SAUCES FOR SEAFOODS

Prepared in the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries

Many consumers prefer the natural flavors of fish and shellfish and do not wish to use sauces. For others, the conventional few drops of lemon juice are insufficient for seasoning; particular sauces are desired. These, adding color contrasts and flavor, or blending in taste with the seafoods prepared, may well serve as stimulants to the appetite. In addition, their richness complements the nutritive values of any fish which, for example, may be low in fat content.

The following recipes for sauces, each taste-tested in the Bureau's test kitchen, are enough for 6 serving-portions and are suggested for those who prefer the "added touch."

The familiar white sauce is the basis for many savory variations of fish dishes and may be used for creaming fish flakes, oysters, and other shellfish, or may be poured over boiled or steamed fish before serving.

WHITE SAUCE

2 tablespoons butter or margarine	2 tablespoons white flour
1 cup milk	$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt
	$\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon pepper

Blend the melted fat and flour thoroughly, add the cold milk, and season with salt and pepper. Stir constantly until thickened. Cook over boiling water 10 minutes longer. This plain sauce may be used as a medium to which may be added chopped hard boiled eggs, mushrooms, oysters, capers, pimento, minced parsley, onion, etc., as desired.

For color contrast, try --

GOLDEN SAUCE

2 tablespoons butter or margarine	$\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon cornstarch	1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt	1 egg, well-beaten

Melt butter, stir in cornstarch, and seasonings. Gradually add milk and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and fold in the egg.

There is something about a touch of natural lemon flavoring that makes a platter of fish more palatable. Serve Lemon Butter Sauce with boiled, planked or baked fish.

LEMON BUTTER

Blend 4 tablespoons of melted butter, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, and 1/8 teaspoon pepper. Serve hot.

Another hot sauce for serving with boiled or baked fish is:

SAUCE ALLEMANDE

4 tablespoons butter	2 cups strong white fish stock
3 tablespoons flour	2 egg yolks
1 tablespoon lemon juice	Salt and pepper

Melt the butter and stir in the flour. Add the boiling fish stock, and stir until smooth. Beat the egg yolks and add a little of the sauce to them. Then, draw the saucepan aside and add the egg yolks to the rest of the sauce, stirring constantly, keeping it below the boiling point. Season.

In the South, Creole Sauce is especially popular and is used principally for baked fish.

CREOLE SAUCE

3/4 cup minced onion	1 garlic clove, minced
1 cup minced	1 teaspoon salt
2 cups stewed or canned tomatoes	3/8 teaspoon pepper
4 tablespoons melted butter or margarine	1/8 teaspoon paprika

Put the butter, onion, pepper, and garlic in a saucepan and cook for 10 minutes or until tender. Add the tomatoes and seasoning; cook 5 minutes longer.

The clear meat of various kinds of seafood, cut if necessary into slices about 3/4-inch thick, may be simmered in Creole Sauce for 10 minutes and served.

Tartare Sauce is widely used for dishes of deep-fried fish, oysters, scallops, or other shellfish.

TARTARE SAUCE

1 cup mayonnaise	1 tablespoon minced capers
1 tablespoon minced pickles	1 tablespoon minced onion
1 tablespoon minced parsley

Mix the ingredients and the sauce is ready to serve.

A variation of this recipe is:

TARTARE SAUCE SUPREME

3 tablespoons mayonnaise	1 tablespoon chopped toasted almonds
1 tablespoon milk
1 tablespoon chopped sweet pickle

Combine the ingredients and serve with baked or broiled fish.

Another cold sauce, to be served with broiled or fried fish, is known as Maître d'Hotel Butter. These small balls of chilled, seasoned butter, served on the side of a plate of fish, add color and flavor.

MAÎTRE D'HOTEL BUTTER

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup butter or margarine	1 teaspoon minced parsley
$1\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons lemon juice	$\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon pepper
	$\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon salt

Cream the butter, gradually working in the lemon juice, salt, and pepper. When well-blended, mix in the parsley, and with paddles, roll into balls about $\frac{3}{4}$ -inch in diameter. Chill, and place one butter ball at the side of each serving of fish.

For shellfish in general: oysters, clams, shrimp, try--
